The 2024 Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion Summer Retreat

will provide safe spaces for diverse thought by engaging in crucial conversations to build pathways leading to transformational change. This year's retreat will provide opportunities to look at the national landscape of diversity, equity, and inclusion, assess our individual and collective journeys, while accounting for our triumphs and missed opportunities along the way.

Smith College Associate Professor Loretta J. The program will also include celebrations, open discussions, workshops on specialized topics, and planning and reflection opportunities. A LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear Hudson County Community College Family and Friends,

It gives me enormous pleasure to welcome you to our third annual Hudson County Community College Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Summer Retreat! This shared experience promises to be highly meaningful as we celebrate how far we've come – and take stock of the next steps on our shared DEI journey.

This year's retreat is different from those of the last two years as we meet off campus in order to have a focused experience, free of interruptions, where participants can fully engage in a deep-dive discussion of the national DEI landscape; tensions related to the war in Gaza and in other parts of the world, including how we have managed and will navigate these concerns at HCCC going forward; and a focus on our draft DEI Action Plan and upcoming College-wide strategic plan. We welcome students, faculty, staff, members of the President's Advisory Council on Diversity, Equity and Inclusion, members of our African American Community Outreach Committee and Latino Advisory Council, and other friends.

We welcome Smith College Associate Professor Dr. Loretta Ross, who will facilitate the Wednesday evening session. Dr. Ross is the 2022 recipient of the MacArthur Foundation Genius Award and a public speaker, writer, scholar, and activist.

Over the next two days, we will celebrate our collective work that has galvanized the HCCC community and beyond, leading us forward in our continuing journey of excellence and best-practice outcomes.

Together, we are making it possible for all to learn, work, and grow in a culture of care – where every person matters, everyone's contributions are acknowledged and celebrated, and our rich diversity is the foundation for the achievement and well-being of every cherished member of our very special HCCC family.

We thank all who are participating on this journey of love, caring, respect, and inclusion, and all who are helping us achieve our greatest dreams and aspirations.

With heartfelt gratitude,

A LETTER FROM THE VICE PRESIDENT FOR DIVERSITY, EQUITY AND INCLUSION

Dear Students, Colleagues, and Guests,

I am honored to welcome you to our 2024 Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Summer Retreat. I thank the members of the President's Advisory Council on Diversity, Equity and Inclusion and others who helped plan these excellent days of internal reflection, growth, and planning for the future.

At Hudson County Community College, Student Success and Diversity, Equity and Inclusion are the two cardinal principles woven into the fabric of our institutional culture. We aspire to a reality where every person can be authentic, express their thoughts openly, and fully participate in shaping our institutional climate.

Over the next two days, we aim to fully engage in open discussions that explore the national DEI discourse, build meaningful relationships with the multiple groups and people attending the retreat, and design a blueprint for the future. Your participation will elevate the conversations and enhance the program's overall impact.

As Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion remain under attack throughout our country, we should acknowledge and leverage our privilege as we embrace our responsibilities to all our communities and each other. We celebrate our state, our county, and our College for providing and supporting an environment where we can celebrate Diversity, Equity and Inclusion in all its forms.

I also want to recognize the vision and leadership provided by President Reber in championing our commitment to our communities and advancing our institutional culture of care.

Thank you for participating in this year's retreat and for helping us celebrate our differences, commonalities and each other.

Warm regards,

A LETTER FROM THE CO-CHAIRS OF THE PRESIDENT'S ADVISORY COUNCIL ON DIVERSITY, EQUITY AND INCLUSION

Dear HCCC Family,

We are thrilled to welcome you to the third annual Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion Summer Retreat hosted by the Office of Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion and the President's Advisory Council on Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (PACDEI).

This Retreat is all about celebrating and valuing diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) at Hudson County Community College (HCCC). We've achieved so much together in making HCCC a pioneer and leader in DEI. Through teamwork and shared decision-making, we've broken down barriers, narrowed equity gaps, and discovered common ground among our various community members. Our subcommittees have provided much input and have played a crucial role in many of the College's accomplishments.

During this Retreat, we will reflect on our journey, but more importantly, set our sights on our future aspirations. It will provide us a chance to reconnect, build solidarity in our efforts, and develop strategies that continue to unite us while celebrating and recognizing our differences.

We want to thank the members of PACDEI and the Retreat Planning Committee for their hard work and dedication. The teamwork and collaboration seen truly reflects our institution's commitment to DEI. We are looking forward to the energy and vision this Retreat will bring as we continue to advance our DEI work across all areas of our College community.

With warm regards,

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Professor Loretta J. Ross

Loretta J. Ross is an activist, public intellectual, scholar, the 2022 recipient of the MacArthur Foundation “Genius” Award and an Associate Professor at Smith College. She has a passion for innovating creative imagining about global human rights and social justice issues and started her career in activism and social change in the 1970s.

In 1978, she was the third executive director for DC Rape Crisis Center, the first rape crisis center in the country. This was her entry point into the women’s movement where she learned about women’s human rights, reproductive justice, white supremacy, and women of color organizing. Through her organizing, she helped launch the movement to end violence against women that has evolved into today’s #MeToo movement. Throughout her 50-year career, she has worked with the National Football League Players’ Association, the National Organization for Women (NOW), the National Black Women’s Health Project, the Center for Democratic Renewal (National Anti-Klan Network), the National Center for Human Rights Education, and SisterSong Women of Color Reproductive Justice Collective.

Loretta retired as an organizer in 2012 to teach and follow her passion to educate. In 1996, she founded the first center in the U.S. to innovate creative human rights education for all students transforming social justice issues to be more collaborative and less divisive. In her work Calling In the Calling Out Culture, she transforms how people can overcome political differences to use empathy and respect to guide difficult conversations. In 2023, Loretta was inducted into the National Women’s Hall of Fame.

Calling In: Navigating Challenging Conversations and Cultivating Compassionate Connections

With the rise of cancel culture, we often find ourselves embroiled in disagreements rather than focusing on our shared goal of advocating for human rights. To build solidarity in our work and communities, we must adopt a strategy that unites us and embraces our differences. ‘Calling In’ offers a path to engage in transformative conversations, meeting people where they are while making people feel heard, respected, and cared for. In this presentation, activist, public intellectual, and scholar, Loretta Ross helps us understand the divisiveness of cancel culture and leads us through alternative ways of holding one another accountable while developing empathy and building meaningful connection.

The 2024 Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Summer Retreat

THURSDAY, AUGUST 1

Introduction

Diana F. Galvez, Assistant Director, North Hudson Campus and Co-Chair of the President's Advisory Council on Diversity, Equity and Inclusion

9:00 a.m. - 9:50 a.m.

Diversity, Equity and Inclusion: The National Discourse

The terms diversity, equity, and inclusion, used jointly or separately, were widely viewed as positive for people, groups, and organizations at the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic in 2020. However, in 2024, the national landscape is significantly different as more than half of the states have introduced legislation banning diversity, equity, and inclusion initiatives in higher education. This session will serve as a platform for open discussions about the anti-DEI movement, the role of our College, and our community.

Facilitators:

Yeury Pujols, Ed.D., Vice President, Diversity, Equity and Inclusion

Kade Thurman, Ph.D., Instructor, Sociology

10:00 a.m. - 10:50 a.m.

Looking Back: Triumphs and Opportunities

This session provides a global view of DEI initiatives implemented, successes achieved, as well as the recent obstacles we faced at the College. We will collectively address the challenges related to external crises, including the wars in Ukraine and Gaza, and how we can navigate this delicate environment moving forward. Together, we will reflect and extract valuable lessons from our journey and collaboratively chart a path towards a more inclusive future.

Yeury Pujols, Ed.D., Vice President, Diversity, Equity and Inclusion

Michelle Vitale, Director of DEI, Cultural Affairs

Facilitators:

Raffi Manjikian, Instructor, Chemistry

Elana Winslow, Associate Professor, Business

1:30 p.m. - 2:20 p.m.

Accessibility and Universal Design for Learning Workshop

The Accessibility and Universal Design for Learning (UDL) workshop is an introduction to best practices that support the needs of diverse learners and students with disabilities. Drawing upon accessibility and equity, the workshop will address commonly implemented UDL strategies and pedagogical approaches to respond and address students' needs. Attendees will think and engage in conversations about how to implement best practices within the scope of UDL to promote equal access and campus-wide inclusivity for all students at the College.
