

ECOLOGY

BIO 208Ecology*4.0 UNITS

In this course, students will understand the mechanisms governing the structure and function of ecological systems, particularly the relationship between organisms and the environment. Students will investigate key environment issues such as; global climate change, acid deposition, loss of biodiversity and genetically modified food.