Letter from the Vice President

Dear Friends and Supporters,

The 28th Annual Foundation Gala, held on December 4th, was a tremendous success and will make a major impact in the year ahead. Together, we raised nearly $250,000 to directly support student scholarships and endowments—an incredible testament to the generosity and commitment of our community. This year's Gala was especially meaningful as we celebrated Hudson County Community College's 50th anniversary and honored Provident Bank and Horizon Blue Cross Blue Shield, longtime supporters of the Foundation and partners in our mission to provide students with access to a life-changing education.

The Gala was a magnificent evening, and it's just one of the many ways we unite throughout the year to support our students and to celebrate together. We invite you to stay connected in the months ahead for more opportunities to make a difference, support our students, and enjoy being part of our vibrant HCCC community.

On behalf of the Foundation and the entire HCCC community, I extend my warmest wishes to you and your loved ones for a joyful holiday season and a bright, fulfilling new year!

Meet Our Students: Anu Bisht

HCCC students overcome significant challenges, have big dreams, and achieve amazing things.

Many people don't know what they want to be when they grow up – Anu Bisht knew she wanted to be an accountant since the age of 15. Anu approached this goal with vigor. She completed her first year of higher education and passed the Chartered Accountant (CA) Foundation exam in her native India, but life then took an unexpected turn. Despite the promising start to her academic journey, she made the brave but challenging decision to leave an abusive home environment and drop out of college to financially support her younger siblings. Anu explained the motivation behind this difficult decision, stating, "I chose to prioritize them because I know what it feels like to go through life without support, and I did not want them to ever feel alone."

After she helped stabilize life for her siblings, she tried to return to school on multiple occasions. However, she dealt with unresolved mental health issues stemming from her difficult childhood, and then was dealt a major blow when a serious neurological illness left her both bedridden and legally blind for over a year.

Despite this incredible hardship, Anu refused to give up and wouldn't let her dream of pursuing a college education and becoming an accountant die. Anu underwent treatment and therapy and recalls, "Once I regained my physical and emotional strength, I felt ready to return to my dream of getting a higher education and set back out on the path I started years ago."

After discovering that community colleges were an option (which eased her concerns about returning to college as a nontraditional student), Anu found HCCC's accounting program and says she "immediately felt like this was the right place to restart my journey. I enrolled in Fall 2024 as an Accounting major, ready to finally pursue the dream I have carried with me since I was 15. HCCC has truly become a second home for me. While I am not a religious person, every time I walk through the doors of this campus, I hear temple bells go off in my head."

Anu knew she was in the right place as soon as she set foot on campus, remembering that "Even before I began classes here, my first interaction with Ms. Royal Ross from Enrollment made a tremendous impact. She guided me through a campus tour and introduced me to the many available resources. In that moment, I felt a genuine sense of belonging, not just to the college, but to the community behind it." She also credits her academic advisors, Lewis Livesay and June Liu, with helping to set the foundation for her success here.

Anu is now an Accounting major and working hard towards her goal of one day becoming a CPA – "Earning my Associate's degree at HCCC is the first and most important step in my CPA journey."

So what's next for Anu after HCCC? She plans to transfer to a four-year university, stating that "My dream is to attend the NYU Stern School of Business and earn a Bachelor's degree in Business with a concentration in Accounting, along with a track in either Business Analytics or Corporate Finance." After completing her degree, she "plans to enter the workforce full-time, ideally in the finance or investment banking sector. I also intend to pursue a Master's degree in Finance with a minor in Economics from Columbia University or Harvard University, to build a strong and well-rounded foundation for a long-term career in corporate accounting and finance." This summer, Anu will take another significant step toward her goals — and her dream school — as she begins an internship with Harvard University's Education Design Lab.

While Anu's journey has been extraordinary and her spirit is indefatigable, her determination and resilience reflect the spirit of many HCCC students who face obstacles on their paths to higher education.

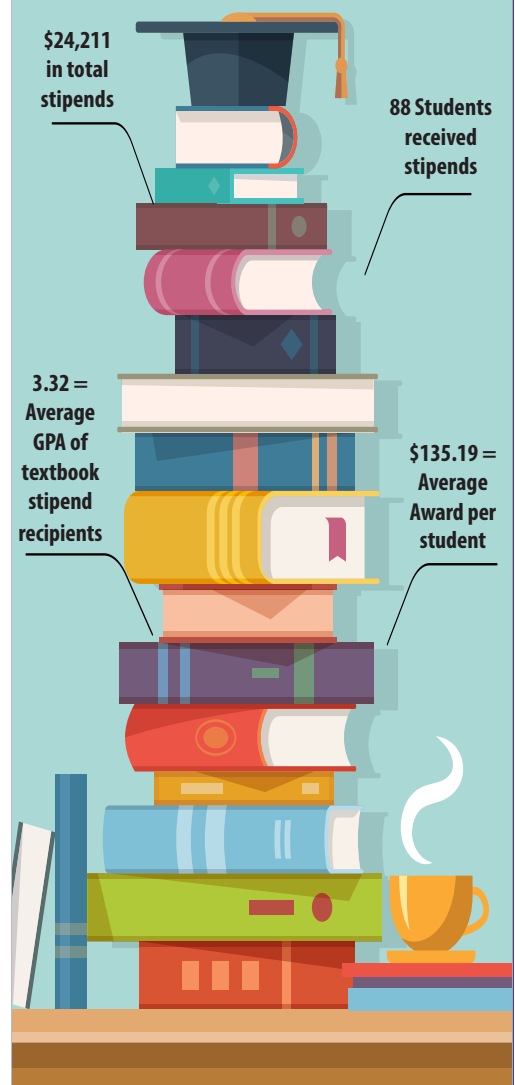

With a bit of support, students like Anu can overcome challenges and continue pursuing their dreams — transforming not only their own futures but also the communities around them. A gift to the Hudson Foundation can help provide scholarships and textbook stipends for more students like Anu. This semester, Anu was the recipient of a textbook stipend from the Hudson Foundation. Anu expressed her gratitude, stating, "I am extremely grateful to the Foundation for this support. The scholarship eased my financial burden and enabled me to secure a resource that I can reference throughout my academic and professional path. This assistance reaffirmed for me that HCCC is deeply committed to supporting its students' success."

Did You Know?

The Hudson Foundation helps to ease the financial burdens students face by providing them with textbook stipends they can use to acquire course materials. Anu Bisht used a textbook stipend to purchase a physical textbook for her Intermediate Accounting I course, explaining that it is a valuable resource she will use throughout her accounting journey.
