HUDSON COUNTY COMMUNITY COLLEGE FOUNDATION HOLDS ITS 21ST ANNUAL HOLIDAY GALA CELEBRATION ON DECEMBER 5

The Board of Directors of the Hudson County Community College (HCCC) Foundation hosted its Annual Holiday Gala on Wednesday, December 5. The event was held in the College's Culinary Conference Center at 161 Newkirk Street in Jersey City. Proceeds from the event – over $175,000 – will provide scholarships for deserving students.

This year marked the 21st anniversary of the fundraiser, and the theme was "Americana." Guests toured the program kitchens of the HCCC Culinary Arts Institute (CAI) and enjoyed hors d'oeuvres, main dishes, side dishes, and desserts representing various regions of the USA. All of the delicious cuisine was prepared by the College's Culinary Arts Institute (CAI) chefs/instructors and students, and served by CAI students. The HCCC CAI program – which is ranked among the top ten culinary programs in the U.S. – is one of only two programs in the region accredited by the American Culinary Federation Accrediting Commission.

One of the evening's highlights was the presentation of the Hudson County Community College Foundation 2018 Distinguished Community Service Award to Barbara and William Netchert. Mr. Netchert is an attorney with the firm of Netchert, Dineen & Hillman and serves as General Counsel for the Hudson County Improvement Authority. A member of the HCCC Board of Trustees since 2003, he has been Chairman of the Board since 2005, and has been instrumental in the College's incredible growth. An integral part of the county and the College, Ms. Netchert served as Hudson County Clerk for more than 10 years. She was also Director of Jersey City Housing, Economic Development and Commerce, and Executive Director of the Jersey City Redevelopment Agency.

The Hudson County Community College Foundation is a nonprofit 501 (C) 3 corporation giving tax-exempt status to contributors. Since the Foundation was established in 1997, it has provided over $3 million in scholarships. The HCCC Foundation also established the Foundation Art Collection eleven years ago to coincide with the initiation of the College's Fine Arts studies program. Presently, the Collection includes over 1,200 paintings, lithographs, photographs, sculptures, and other works by nationally acclaimed artists that are displayed throughout all the buildings on the College's Journal Square and North Hudson Campuses. The Foundation also hosts a series of lectures that feature prominent artists and art authorities and scholars, and are open to the general public.

Hudson County Community College (HCCC) and New Jersey City University (NJCU) have formalized an agreement for an Associate-Baccalaureate Degree Completion Program – the HCCC-NJCU RN-BSN at Hudson County Community College.

Present at the Memorandum of Understanding signing on December 10 were HCCC President Dr. Chris Reber; NJCU President Dr. Sue Henderson; HCCC Executive Vice President and Provost Dr. Eric Friedman; HCCC Dean of Instruction Dr. John Marlin; HCCC Assistant Vice President of Academic Affairs Christopher Wahl; NJCU Acting Nursing Department Chair Dr. Christine McSherry; HCCC Director of Health, Science & Technology Affiliate Faculty Carol Fasano; and NJCU Associate Professor and RN to BSN Program Coordinator Dr. Joyce Wright.

Dr. Reber remarked that increasingly, the College’s partners in the healthcare industries seek professionals who possess a Bachelor’s degree. “Our partnership with NJCU affords our graduates greater opportunities for employment and career success,” he said.

“Our Nursing programs are among our greatest points of pride,” Dr. Reber stated. He noted that the College’s Registered Nursing (RN) Program is ranked in the top tier of two- and four-year nursing programs nationwide with 94% of HCCC graduates passing the NCLEX licensure test first time out. Additionally, the HCCC Practical Nursing (PN) program is top ranked among New Jersey PN programs, with 100% of the last two cohorts of HCCC graduates passing the NCLEX the first time out.

Dr. Reber said the HCCC Nursing and Allied Health Sciences program’s success is a result of the excellent instruction students receive from caring faculty who are medical professionals and who support students in attaining their degrees and preparing them for their licensing exams.

HCCC students also have the advantage of learning in the College’s state-of-the-art Cundari Center, which includes a mock hospital with interactive “patients” and the latest medical equipment.

“Thanks to this agreement, our RN graduates can earn the BSN right here on our campus,” Dr. Reber said. In the HCCC-NJCU RN-BSN Degree Completion Program, the required 100- and 200-series coursework for the NJCU RN-BSN degree will be taught at HCCC on the Journal Square Campus, with the credits for those courses transferring towards the NJCU Baccalaureate degree. The required 300- and 400-series NJCU courses will also be taught on the HCCC Journal Square Campus.

HCCC AND MONTCLAIR STATE UNIVERSITY PARTNERSHIP BROADENS FOOD INDUSTRY STUDIES AND CAREER OPTIONS

Hudson County Community College (HCCC) and Montclair State University (MSU) have entered into a partnership of their respective Culinary Arts Institute and Food Systems programs. The relationship will provide opportunities for HCCC students to transfer up to 69 credits toward MSU's bachelor degree in Nutrition and Food Science-Food Systems. The collective resources of the two programs include research, food science, and culinary labs unmatched in New Jersey and beyond.

"The merging of these two programs will provide our students a big career advantage, as it better prepares them to meet the needs of the evolving food industry and increases their marketability," said HCCC President Dr. Chris Reber. "They will acquire a strong background in culinary principles and a holistic understanding of the entire food industry, plus competencies such as food systems and management, food sciences, sustainability, and nutrition."

Dr. Reber noted that the affiliation of these two food-related programs is the first of its kind in New Jersey and one of the few programs in the nation that provides a comprehensive food curriculum.

The HCCC Culinary Arts Institute (CAI) program is ranked number eight in the U.S. by Best Choice Schools. The HCCC Culinary Arts Associate in Applied Science degree prepares students for restaurant and food service careers as chefs, station chefs, sous-chefs, bakers, and restaurant managers. Students are introduced to all facets of food service operations including Kitchen Skills, Food Sanitation, Bakeshop, Garde Manger, Table Service, Menu & Facilities Design, and Food, Beverage, and Labor Cost Control.

The MSU Food Systems program builds upon the HCCC CAI base and prepares for professions in strategic local and global food solutions, food product research and development, food and nutrition policy and management, culinary development, applied nutrition and food science, and more. Some of the courses offered in the MSU program are Catering & Banquet Management, Urban Agriculture & Sustainable Food Systems, Molecular Cuisine, and Global Perspectives in Food & Nutrition.

"This new pathway into Food Systems opens up exciting possibilities for our Culinary and Hospitality Management students. Successful transfer will put students in career paths that they may not have accessed previously. It's a win-win," commented HCCC Executive Vice President and Provost Dr. Eric Friedman.

"This collaborative endeavor provides students with the expertise of a diverse faculty and access to state-of-the-art laboratory resources from both institutions," noted Dr. Willard Gingerich, Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs at Montclair State University.

The HCCC-MSU Food Systems partnership will be available to students beginning in January 2019, and the Montclair State University application will be waived for HCCC Culinary Arts A.A.S. graduates.

More information about the program may be obtained by contacting HCCC Associate Dean Paul Dillon at pdillon@hccc.edu or 201-360-4631.

SPRING EXHIBITION

Notes and Tones: Jazz Influences on the EFA Robert Blackburn Printmaking Workshop

January 29 – March 1
Curated by Essye Klempner

February 5: Opening Reception, 4-7 p.m.
March 1: Closing Reception, 4-7 p.m.

And Still I Rise, Otto Neals

The HCCC Department of Cultural presents Notes and Tones, a themed compilation of prints created by nationally recognized artists who have worked over the years with the Robert Blackburn Printmaking Workshop in Manhattan. Notes and Tones is in partnership with the Robert Blackburn Printmaking Workshop, a program of the Elizabeth Foundation for the Arts. Today, this community printshop is dedicated to continuing the legacy of its founder and Master Printer Robert Blackburn. Blackburn, a jazz aficionado, held similar ideologies to the local Jazz communities of the late 1960's. This indie spirit glistens through the jazz-inspired works that will be on view. The exhibition will also include a closer look at community partner WBGO, a celebrated national radio station based out of Newark, NJ. WBGO is renowned for presenting jazz of the highest quality.

The exhibition coincides with our annual Georgia Brooks Celebration, highlights include a live hot jazz performance during the opening reception on February 5, which will be recorded by WBGO and broadcast on air, and Jersey City masking tape artist Kayt Hester will create a live mural installation in the Dineen Hull Atrium. The closing reception will take place on March 1, which is also JC Fridays, and will feature a performance from jazz singer Audrey Martells accompanied by her husband Belden on bass.

Additional artists in the exhibition include Benny Andrews, Romare Bearden, Camille Billops, Willie Birch, Robert Blackburn, Betty Blayton, Kay Brown, Melvin Clark, Maren Hassinger, Otto Neals, Vincent Smith, Mildred Thompson, Michael Kelly Williams, among others.

Honors Paper Presentations and Poster Showcase

Every semester, Honors students put on a grand display of scholarship and innovation by completing a capstone project for each individual Honors course. Beginning with the Paper Presentations Panel on Dec. 5, the two-day event culminated with the poster displays on Dec. 6. Emily Brown, Octavia Davila, Rebecca Richardson, and Luca Scandella were selected to present at the Paper Presentations Panel. Students present their papers to an audience of faculty, administrators, as well as other HCCC students, and then field questions about their work during a Q&A session. At the poster displays, students set up their projects and remained close to their displays to field discussion from attendees as they walk through the event.

Honors Salons

The Honors Program has begun a new lecture series connected to the activities of the Honors Lounge. Faculty and administrators lead monthly Socratic discussions on text that attendees read beforehand. For the Fall semester, the two readings had a philosophical theme. Kenny Fabara, Writing Center Coordinator, led Honors Salon I with a discussion of Utilitarianism, and Dr. Emily Friedman, Executive Vice President & Provost, led Honors Salon II on Descartes' Meditations.

ALUMNI CORNER

Zakia Hmamou

Class of 2015

Associate of Science – Engineering Science

What factors led you to decide to attend Hudson County Community College?

When I came to the United States in March 2011, my goal was to have a degree that could help me to find a professional job. I started searching in the internet to understand how the education system works in the United States, because I had no idea and my English language was null. I found the HCCC website; I translated the information into Arabic so I could understand it. First, it was close to home, affordable, its credits transferable, and HCCC had the exact major that I wanted.

What is your favorite memory of the College, in or out of the classroom?

One of the best memories in HCCC was Fall 2012, because I gave birth to my son 7 days after the semester started. I did not take a leave of absence from the College, but I worked hard during that time and exited the ESL program by the end of the semester

How did you become interested in engineering?

I was interested in the major, because I was working as a Laboratory civil engineer technician in Morocco, and I felt that I could do more than a technician. I wanted to become a civil engineer, so when I got the opportunity to come to the USA, my first goal was to go back to school to get the appropriate degree.

How did your time at HCCC prepare you for your career/ life now?

The time that I spent in HCCC as a student change my whole career, when I was a student. I started working as a work study student with the Center for Online Learning; it was an excellent opportunity. Beside my admiration for civil engineering, my hobby is web designing, and computer programming; therefore my hobby has become my daily tasks with COL, and thanks to work study opportunity, I achieved double goals in my life, having a B.S. degree in civil engineering from NJIT, and working as Instructional Designer with COL at HCCC.

What is a typical work day for you?

I do not have a typical work day; every day is different. I start my work day by checking my emails and phone calls. And based on that the day goes on. For example, I may receive complaints from students or faculty about issues in the online courses; the priority is to solve them, and make sure that there is 100% satisfaction. In the couple of days before the start of a semester, I spend my day working on the content of online courses and update or change them to be ready for the students

What has been the most memorable project/ case you have worked on?

One of the memorable projects was designing a hybrid late start course BIO 107 (Human Biology) on short notice. The design was done in two days, it was a successful course, and we offer it every semester

Who are your biggest inspirations that have impacted your work in some way?

I do not have just one; all the HCCC family inspire me – all the faculty and staff members inspire me somehow, because everyone is unique.

What advice would you give to recent HCCC graduates?

If you did have not transferred yet, this is the time. Find a good four-year university to achieve a higher degree, and start applying for internships related to your major, because it adds a lot to your resume.

What advice do you have for those students who are just starting their college careers?

First think of what career suits you, not the major. The domain that you choose will be with you forever; then based on that choose the major. Some students keep changing their major because they are confused and wasting their time and money. The major is just the start point, so think bigger.
